If you own a digital camera, you probably have a couple

of problems with the time. This application helps you to sort out all the right time settings you need for shooting. Mainly, it allows you to convert the clock of your device from local to GMT time. The result is displayed in the "Reference" format, which makes it easy to export it. The converted time is fully customizable and can be adjusted in increments of 1 second. In addition, you can specify the correct time zone, which helps if your camera has an incorrect time setting. The GUI of the application is straightforward, easy to learn and very well arranged. It does not take more than a couple of minutes to set up the program. Of course, you will need to read the help file for a basic understanding of the operation. If you are a beginner in photography, then you should be grateful to this program. When you run the application, the "Reference" format will be presented in the window. It is an easy-to-read window that shows the current time in GMT and local time zones. There are three possible output formats - "Full Date-Time", "Short Date-Time" and "Full Time Zone". Furthermore, the program allows you to export the converted reference format to PDF, TIFF, JPEG and PNG image files. To finish the conversion, all you need to do is to specify the output file and the time you wish to save. When you press the "Start" button, the conversion will start immediately.

---

Audio Book Splitter 1.03 Video Tutorial After a very long time we are happy to announce the new version of the Audio Book Splitter. We have added the possibility to split audio books directly on the PC into chapters. Audio Book Splitter is a utility that allows you to split any audio book into smaller tracks and

convert them to other formats. For example you can convert an audio book into MP3, M4A, WMA, AIFF or AAC format. The program supports many input and output formats. Also this program is totally free and doesn't contains any spyware or adware. Audio Book Splitter converts the whole audio book into multiple MP3 tracks. Just set the starting time of each
