What to do when the "Waiting..." is displayed? If you attempt to download a firmware file but you see the following message: "Waiting...", the download of the file is still in progress and you can try it later or turn off your Wi-Fi to let the device connect to your Wi-Fi network to download the file. You can also download a larger size, updated firmware file and try again. When you download a new version, the version numbers may not be matched, so you need to re-download the new file. This method may be used for our method. What are the Other methods? It may take a long time to download the file when your network connection has relatively low connection speed, thus you should try to download a different device (or you can download it in a different place) or try another method. Verify the "Device Model" and "Build Version" listed on the "Settings" dialog box of
