Venezuela: Another US Administration Denial by Michael O'Moore We have news for the US government of our Latin American allies, the people of Venezuela, and the world: in the United States of America, you do not lie, you do not mislead, and you do not fudge the truth. President Donald Trump's latest Salvo de Palo de Tierra (Shock from his Cellar) occurred when he and his loutish gaggle of Trumpkins at the summit meeting of the Organization of American States in Peru all but called out Venezuela as a monster and an outlaw. These chaps are not as clever as we thought. With their denunciation of Venezuela as the outlaw rogue regime, Trump and his band of bungling and bumbling neocons will establish in the minds of billions of people that Hugo Chávez-Maduro's Venezuela is not only anti-democratic (as they say), but is also the pariah state of the "global village." With the United States as our guardian angel of democracy, the people of the world will set out to overthrow Maduro-Chávez's Venezuela, either by force of arms or by force of a world public opinion of disgust. And this is precisely what we feared. The question is, just how long will the United States be able to maintain its imprimatur of "freedom and democracy" for us before the world begins to wonder if perhaps the US is not "in fact" the outlaw rogue state that calls itself the "policeman of the world." So far,

Download Full VersionQ: Determine the image of an open set under a function Let  $f$  be a continuous function on  $X$  and  $A$  an open set in  $X$ . Define  $F(A) = \{y \in Y : f(x) \in A \text{ for some } x \in X\}$ . How can I prove that  $F(A)$  is closed and  $\lim_{x \rightarrow y} f(x) = f(y)$ ? A: If  $y \in F(A)$  then  $f(x) \in A$  for some  $x \in X$  so  $\lim_{x \rightarrow y} f(x) = f(y)$ . This means that  $\lim_{x \rightarrow y} f(x)$  exists. Now for any  $z \in \lim_{x \rightarrow y} f(x)$  there exists  $x_n \rightarrow y$  such that  $f(x_n) \rightarrow z$ . Now by continuity of  $f$  we have that  $z \in f(A)$  and hence  $F(A)$  is closed. Now  $f^{-1}(F(A))$  is a closed set and  $f: f^{-1}(F(A)) \rightarrow F(A)$  is continuous, so  $f$  is continuous. Now  $\lim_{x \rightarrow y} f(x) = f(y)$  is a closed subset of  $F(A)$ .
